

List of Courses in Babasaheb Bhimrao Ambedkar University, Muzaffarpur

Bihar University was carved out of Patna University in 1952. Its headquarters was located at Patna, then and its founder Vice-Chancellor was Late Raibahadur Shyam Nandan Sahay. All the colleges of Bihar were attached to Bihar University except those under the jurisdiction of Patna University. Thus, this University is known as the second oldest University in Bihar. This University is also one of the fifteen oldest Universities of India. Such eminent personalities as the first President of India, Dr. Rajendra Prasad, the great freedom fighter, Acharya Kripalani and Malkani, Rastrakavi Ramdhani Singh Dinkar have been associated as teachers with the glorious history of Bihar University.

In 1960 and 1962, the Govt. of Bihar, in accordance with its decision, split Bihar University in four parts and the headquarters of each part was decided to be established at its commissionerary. With its original name, the headquarters of Bihar University was shifted to Muzaffarpur and the jurisdiction of this University was the area of old Tirhut Commissionerary which included four old districts of Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga. In 1972, once again a bifurcation took place and L.N.M.U. was established with its headquarters at Darbhanga. In 1992 for the last time a bifurcation took place and J.P. University was established with its headquarters at Chapra. In this way, only two old districts Muzaffarpur and Champanan are at present under the jurisdiction of this University. In 1993, the Government of Bihar rechristened this University and since then, it is known as Babasaheb Bhimrao Ambedkar Bihar University. We express our gratitude to the Govt. of Bihar for adding the name of the maker of the constitution of India, Dr. Ambedkar to this University and glorifying us.
